

3 John

The elder to the beloved Gaius, whom I love in truth. Beloved, I pray that all may go well with you and that you may be in good health, just as it is well with your soul. I was overjoyed when some of the friends arrived and testified to your faithfulness to the truth, namely how you walk in the truth.

5 I have no greater joy than this, to hear that my children are walking in the truth. Beloved, you do faithfully whatever you do for the friends, even though they are strangers to you; they have testified to your love before the church. You will do well to send them on in a manner worthy of God; for they began their journey for the sake of Christ, accepting no support from

10 non-believers. Therefore we ought to support such people, so that we may become co-workers with the truth. I have written something to the church; but Diotrephes, who likes to put himself first, does not acknowledge our authority. 0 So if I come, I will call attention to what he is doing in spreading false charges against us. And not content with those charges, he

15 refuses to welcome the friends, and even prevents those who want to do so and expels them from the church. 1 Beloved, do not imitate what is evil but imitate what is good. Whoever does good is from God; whoever does evil has not seen God. 2 Everyone has testified favorably about Demetrius, and so has the truth itself. We also testify for him, and you know that our

20 testimony is true. 3 I have much to write to you, but I would rather not write with pen and ink; 4 instead I hope to see you soon, and we will talk together face to face. (5) Peace to you. The friends send you their greetings. Greet the friends there, each by name.*

* From the New Revised Standard Version of the Bible, copyright 1989 by the Division of Christian Education of the National Council of the Churches of Christ in the USA. Used by permission. All rights reserved.